RESEARCH ACTIVITY

Sergio Moro's research activity involves participation in (national and international) research groups, the presentation of papers at (national and international) conferences as well as the publication of academic articles.

Publications include, inter alia, two book-length studies concerning respectively ultra vires acts with reference to the distinction between formal and substantive ultra vires, and the interplay between territorial governance and ownership interests. Other publications concern both general issues (e.g. the significance of principles within European law, the services coordination committee as well as special issues (e.g. foundations of banking origin, integrated university hospitals, town planning agreements, management positions).

TEACHING ACTIVITY

Sergio Moro is heavily involved on an ongoing basis in both face-to-face teaching as well as incidental teaching activities and the provision of student teaching services. In particular, he has been the coordinator – for a number of years – of university modules and/or courses focusing on both general and special administrative law.
