What do students do if they require healthcare while in Glasgow?	Healthcare in the UK is mainly provided through the National Health Service (NHS). Please refer to our healthcare information here: https://www.gla.ac.uk/international/support/livinginuk/nhs/#non-eeanationals Students are strongly recommended to register with a GP on arrival in Glasgow. This is free to do and there is a GP surgery on campus - http://www.universitybarclay.com/
Step 4: During the course
What is the teaching style like?	Study abroad and exchange students attend classes with other British and international students and are assessed in the same manner. The most common form of teaching is formal lectures (particularly at Level 1 and 2) with supplementary group tutorials where discussion and group participation are encouraged. A significant proportion of teaching for Science and Engineering takes place in practical laboratory sessions. In upper-level classes, lectures are often to smaller groups of students and in some departments are replaced by tutorials and seminars. Students may find that they have very few contact hours and less assessment than they are used to at their home institution. It is important to note that higher education in Scotland places a strong emphasis on independent study.
How will students be assessed?	Assessment methods vary from course to course, but may include essay submissions, project work and end of semester exams. Details of and deadlines for assessment are included in the course handbook for each of our courses. Exam timetables will be published on the University website during the semester. It is the student's responsibility to submit assessments and attend for exams punctually.
Who should students contact for advice during studies in Glasgow?	A member of staff from the Visiting Students team will be the student's advisor. Course administrators will add students to a Moodle page for each course they are enrolled on. Moodle is the University of Glasgow's virtual learning environment.

	The Moodle page will give detailed information on courses as well as useful contacts within the department. Students should contact the course team with any course-specific enquiries in the first instance.
--	---

What should students do if they are unable to complete assignments or attend exams?	The University operates a Good Cause process. Students can use this process to let university staff know of any circumstances affecting their studies.
What support is available if students are facing personal challenges?	The University's counselling team is available to all students. Full info on the support they can offer can be found at https://www.gla.ac.uk/myglasgow/counselling/

Transcripts	An official transcript will be sent to the student's home address once results are finalised and available. This is an automatic process and students do not need to do anything to request their transcript.
